

I just want to let you know that you are the love of my life. You are the reason I am glowing because the kind of happiness that you always give me is undescrivable. Our love is here to stay. You are the part of me that was missing and I am glad I met you. Since I met you, my life have changed for better and you have not given me a reason to doubt my love for you for a second. I love you and I love everything about you. You have melted my heart, colonized it that all I now think about is you. I want to let you know that I have fully surrendered my heart to you and I know that you will never make me regret doing so.happy birthday my love

Happy Birthday

